

Alan Clydesdale

ALAN CLYDESDALE will be Royal Bank of Scotland's director of commercial banking covering Somerset and North Devon.

Alan, who has more than 30 years' experience with RBS, will lead a 20-strong team working with customers with a turnover of between £1 million and £25m.

Alan is based at Blackbrook Business Park in Taunton, where the RBS team relocated last year from Wellington to allow more room for growth. Alan will also be responsible for the commercial teams in Yeovil and Barnstaple. He replaces former director John Burton, who has retired.

FRANK HODGSON has been made a full partner in Bristol civil and structural engineers KB2, following the firm's restructuring and rebranding.

Frank joined the business, previously called Kenneth Brown & Partners, in 1995. He is

Frank Hodgson

Debbie Legge

Nigel Thomas

now responsible for overseeing the structural and civil projects of the KB2 design teams.

DEBBIE LEGGE has been appointed as fundraising and communications administrator at Witchurch-based animal welfare charity HorseWorld.

The 40-year-old will be responsible for the day-to-day administration of the fundraising department as well as communicating with donors and the public at the charity's headquarters. She previously worked as a team leader in customer services for GE Capital Equipment Finance.

Ian Russell

Tania Hewitt

Gloucestershire low-energy lighting provider Greenled has appointed four specialists to its expanding team - IAN RUSSELL, PAUL STEARMAN and PAUL HAINES join the sales force, while NIGEL THOMAS joins the technical team.

Based in London, Ian Russell will manage sales accounts in London and the South East. Ian ran his own property development business in

Paul Stearman

Paul Haines

London for several years after working for an electrical distributor.

Paul Stearman has worked in the lighting industry for over 30 years and joins Greenled as Southern UK sales manager from the European Lamp Group where he managed accounts in the leisure and hospitality sectors.

Merseyside-based Paul Haines has been in sales for 15 years, and now heads Greenled's Northern UK sales team. Previously working as a science teacher and cable design engineer, Paul most recently worked on technical sales and new business development with VonRoll, a Swiss electrical insulation systems company.

Nigel Thomas joins Greenled's technical team, having worked as a technical manager with Metropolis in Swansea for four years. He will focus on project design and product assessment. National fast-track fit-out specialists Spacetrailors announce the appointment of financial director TANIA HEWITT to oversee the company's continued expansion. On track to hit a projected 25 per cent growth in turnover target at the end of their financial year in June, Gloucestershire-based Spacetrailors is gearing itself up for an even more successful year.

Hewitt worked as FD for over 12 years across a number of industry sectors including software, gas and chemicals, and the built environment. Spacetrailors managing director Andy Powell said: "Tania's appointment signals a milestone for the company and she brings a number of key skills that will inevitably help us with our ambitious growth strategy."

Established in 1963 as Gwyn Powell and Son, the Spacetrailors corporate identity was launched in August 2006.